

Plagiarism Policy

Asian Pacific Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences will check plagiarism for all the articles before prior publication. If the plagiarism content is observed by editors, peer reviewers, or by editorial staff members at any stage of publication process at the time of editing or proofreading will be informed to the author to rewrite the manuscript. Asian Pacific Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences also check for plagiarism and research fabrication (Grammarly) and reserves the right to use plagiarism detecting software to screen submitted papers at all times; falsification (manipulation of existing research data, tables, or images). Under the code of conduct, Asian Pacific Journal of Nursing and Health Sciences will report any cases of suspected plagiarism or duplicate publishing. In any case, if the submitted original manuscript is 25% plagiarised, then the article will be rejected, and the same will be notified to the author.